

GCP Evelyn Meador April 27 reading

Weasel Patterson

Weasel is a degenerate author and The Dude of Weasel Press. Author of We Don't Make it Out Alive, and Jazz at the End of the Night he spends most of his time devouring books and tweeting about food. In 2016 he was a Juried Poet in the Houston Poetry Fest. Weasel's work has been featured in various anthologies, including but not limited to: Infurno, Slashers, Thirteen Poets, Five2One Magazine, Di-Verse-City, and Species: Wolves. Although he enjoys being an author, his lifelong dream is to own a taco truck.

Matthew Riley

Matthew Riley is a poet and library director. His poems have appeared in many anthologies over the past few years. His most recent poems have been included in Dos Gatos Press 100 Word Anthology, Weaving the Terrain, Mutabilis Press, Enchantment of the Ordinary, and The Ekphrastic Review. He has been honored to read his work at bookstores, poetry festivals, and more recently at The Jung Center in Houston, TX.

Choonwha Moon

Choonwha Moon, a South Korean adoptee, earned her BA and MFA from the University of Florida and is a member of the Gulf Coast Poets Society. She has been published in Houston Poetry Fest 2014 and won The Lorene Pouncey Memorial Award in 2015. She's also published in Austin International Poetry Fest and the Dos Gatos Press Texas Poetry Calendar. She was the feature poet at the 2016 Houston

Poetry Festival. She lives in Houston, Texas.

David E. Cowen

David E. Cowen is a native Texan who makes his home in Houston, Texas. He is the author of the Bram Stoker Award Nominated Bleeding Saffron (Weasel Press 2018), and The Seven Yards of Sorrow (Weasel Press 2016) and The Madness of Empty Spaces (Weasel Press 2014) both of which were on the Bram Stoker preliminary ballots for their respective publication years. David has published fiction in a number of presses and anthologies including the award winning series Exotic Gothic (PS Publishing) and has published poems in a number of magazines and e-zines in several countries. David has written several non-fiction pieces which were published in thisibelieve.org, CineAction magazine and The Encyclopedia of the Zombie: The Walking Dead in Popular Culture and Myth. David was the editor of HWA's Poetry Showcase Vols. III and IV. David was a 5 time president and is a Lifetime Member of the Gulf Coast Poets Chapter of the Texas Poetry Society.

Susan Musch

Susan Musch is a Lifetime Member and past 5 year Vice President of Gulf Coast Poets Chapter of the Poetry Society of Texas. In 2018 Susan received Top Honors in the Friendswood Public Library Ekphrastic Poetry Competition. Susan earned degrees in Spanish and Accounting from Lamar University and a Doctor Of Jurisprudence from the University of Houston.